The national Election season in America is in November.

Local and state elections may be the same or a different day.

The national election season is quite long in America. It can begin 6 months before the election. Many people are tired of politics by the end of the Election season.

Most of the campaigning in American elections happens on TV. Commercials are the best way to get your message to the voters. The elections season is long so opponents try very hard to find “dirt” on their opponent.

Dirt is many things.
Dirt can be an embarrassing secret.
Dirt can be a breaking a promise or a principle.

Voting:

The age to vote in America is 18.

It is 18 because that is when a person becomes an adult in America.

Everyone has a local voting place. You can vote at a different place but it takes a little longer.
